Video Evidence Index

This folder contains two local MP4 recordings and one public YouTube endurance record. Together, they document long-duration continuity, final-state evidence, and a complete 12-hour public run. These are controlled test records, not customer production revenue or guaranteed savings. Final commercial claims require independently reviewed customer data, agreed measurement rules, and collected revenue.

1

Program 38 - 63-Hour Ordinary-Day Continuity Recording

LOCAL FILE: Rec - Jul 17, 2026 #1(3).mp4

DURATION: 03:58

WHAT IT SHOWS: A short continuity recording captured approximately 63 hours into Program 38, the ordinary-day floor lane. It shows the live dashboard, active runtime, and continued operation well beyond the initial milestone.

WHY IT MATTERS: It gives a reviewer a fast visual check that the endurance run remained active over time instead of being represented only by a final screenshot.

2

Programs 38 and 40 - 150+ Hour Final Evidence Recording

LOCAL FILE: Rec - Jul 21, 2026(1).mp4

DURATION: 03:34

WHAT IT SHOWS: A combined final-evidence recording showing Program 38 near 154 hours and Program 40 near 150 hours. It captures the ordinary-day floor lane and the public-incident lane at the close of their long-duration tests.

WHY IT MATTERS: It provides a compact visual record that both endurance programs reached more than 150 hours with their dashboards and final-state measurements visible.

3

Program 35 - Full 12-Hour Financial Recovery Endurance Record

PUBLIC LINK: Open the 12-Hour Public Record on YouTube

DURATION: 12-hour public recording

WHAT IT SHOWS: The complete public video record for Program 35, showing the Logic Engine financial recovery endurance test across the full twelve-hour run.

WHY IT MATTERS: It allows a serious reviewer to inspect the long-duration record directly instead of relying only on summaries, screenshots, or exported reports.
